“ Bev as she was affectionately called during her school years brought so much fun and humor to our daily classes, she would having us laugh so hard that we get in trouble at times. I hadn't seen Bevi in years but I ran into her at the market earlier this year and it was like reliving our schools. Bev had me laughing so hard I thought they were going to put us out the market. I know she will be truly missed by many. I am praying for much comfort and peace for her family and love ones.

“ A true friend: How many true friends do you have? At first, lots of names may come to mind, but the longer you think about it, that number will likely dwindle. Many of us do not have a great quantity of genuine friends—the ones who remain loyal no matter what. True genuine friendships are built upon a foundation of mutual respect, love, and authentic commitment. Today, I celebrate Beverly Laury my butterfly a true friend.
