

Jacqueline Lorraine Brown

September 19, 1955 - February 28, 2023

Jacqueline Lorraine Brown was born on September 19, 1955, in North Carolina, to the late Oliver Lewis and Carrie Lewis.

“Jackie” as she was affectionately called, was the third born of nine siblings, the late Mary Ann Barrett, Nita Toyer, Carrie Goodson, Oliver Lewis, Jr., Lindsey Whitaker, Barbara Lewis, the late Sandra Daniels, and Kia Lewis.

Jacqueline retired from Crozer-Chester Hospital on December 1, 2014, and received many accolades and awards during her tenure at Crozer-Chester Hospital for her stellar work performance and accomplishments.

Her hobbies were, cleaning, cooking, her public ministry, spending time with her children, and watching her favorite T.V. Shows.

Jacqueline was well-known and loved by many for her love, kindness, generosity, unselfishness, and hospitality.

Those who knew Jacqueline also knew she had a sense of humor unlike any other!! Many can tell you of stories of when they were bending over in stomach pains laughing due to her humor and her unique way of expressing it

Despite her many accomplishments, her love for her heavenly Father, Jehovah God, was the main priority in her life. In her field ministry, she often shared her faith with others regarding the wonderful future hope for mankind. She also enjoyed meeting with her brothers and sisters at the Kingdom Hall, which was her place of worship.

Jacqueline Brown leaves behind three children; Andre Lewis, Regina Brown, and Leslie Brown; four grandchildren; Moneisha Cran, Kia Brown, Adriana Lewis, and Jordan Lewis; one daughter-in-law; Tracy Lewis, and one grandson-in-law; Ceyron Cran.

Jacqueline also leaves behind many nieces, nephews, cousins, and lifetime friends alike.
