“ No words can express the fondest memories of a blessed soul. Although you are gone to your heavenly home. Your time on earth was a gift to your family, friends, and everyone around you because you made it known. The memories you left behind will never go untold. You was a blessing to me in your home and I was more like a daughter to you and Ada as it was known. We enjoyed deep conversations, sports, and when I started to work, you drove me back and forth as if I was your own. All these things and more was fun it made me forget when you took Mae from me to the north and I was left alone. We all started over in the North because it was not to much time past before I was there and it was where I felt I belong. It was one of the last thing you said to me, when was I coming back? Nothing can out measure a man and the love he has for his family. You dedicated your life to taking care of your family and gave love plus shared love with others. Weeping may come, saddest may linger, loneliness may happen, but prayer will comfort and your memories will always be there. Life happens and "We" survive by God's Grace, One Day at a time. Bless is the man who recover from his obstacles and survive. What a gift he was to everyday spent on earth and the legacy left behind from earth to glory with his demise. Marshall, will never be forgotten but God' s strength will help us all survive. Those fond memories of you will remain; although, things on earth without you will not be the same but, to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord.
