

Quentin T. Quail

January 7, 1973 - November 29, 2025

Quentin Terrill Quail was born on January 7, 1973, to Betty A. Westley and Cleveland Butterfield in West Chester, Pennsylvania. He moved to Delaware County with his family while he was a young child. Quentin went peacefully home with his family where he resided in Chester, PA.

Quentin found Christ as a young adult at Life in Christ Church and found his home in Christ at Eternal Hope of Glory. His early educational years were spent in Booker T. Washington elementary school & Smedley Middle School. He later graduated from Chester High School. After graduation, he found a love for cooking at a young age & continued cooking as a profession.

Throughout his life, he had a love for music, movies, playing games, conversation, making people laugh & spending time with his family. Quentin got married to the love of this life in 2008 to Kayla Sudler-Quail. They were happily married until his departure. He was preceded in death by his father, Cleveland Butterfield; beloved stepfather, Vernard Brown; brother Mark Westley & sister Daytwan Quail.

He leaves to cherish his memory: his wife Kayla Sudler-Quail; mother, Betty Brown; sons Raekwon Coleman and Isaiah Sudler-Quail; daughter: Jazmine Quail; seven brothers James Maguire (brother-in-law); Terry Dingle; Myron Wyatt; Taequan Maxwell; Donald R. Butterfield (Patricia), Clement Butterfield,

Stanley Butterfield (Colleen) and Cleveland Butterfield, III; two sisters Stacey Quail and Carlotta Brown-Williams (Marion Williams); one beloved godchild Aasim Warren; one mother-in-law Carolyn Sudler; one grandmother Christine Frisby, friend and confidant Henry Screven and a host of nieces, nephews, relatives and friends.
