“ Greetings Everyone: In my reflection of my cousin Earnie there was this one summer like I had a two week visit to Chester (I'm from Philly) back in the day when Sabrina & I played hard inside & outside the home. One particular evening Earnie, being 5 yrs older took some time out of his busyness as he had his own friends watch Sabrina & I as we were dancing around listened to 45's on the turntable. Earnie observed, called us tomboys & then decided we needed to learn how to dance & finesse with males so he gave us dance lessons on how to do the cha cha & bop. He made sure we knew how to represent when it was our time for clubbing. He took his time with each of us until we caught on proper. Then, Earnie always being gentleman like said, “ for y'all being young ladies y'all don't smell so nice. Ill anyways appreciate Earnie for his honesty, spirited conversations, & his outward fight for what he believed in & supported. Love Cousin Gail Sheppard Alston.
